

WALDEN '76

Upon a mountain solitude a man instantly feels a sensible exaltation and a better claim to his rights in the universe . . . yet our intellectual and active powers increase with our affection for one another.

From the essays of Ralph Waldo Emerson

The Walden Story

Six years ago Walden was merely an idea and a dream. Marie Loar and a group of students and parents felt a need for a more complete and effective educational environment where students could realize their potential as individuals.

The excitement of a growing idea was felt by students and teachers in the tiny rooms and cramped quarters of the church that was once Walden. A year and a half later the school moved to its present building. The rambling wood and stone structure surrounded by trees and fields seemed to capture and reflect the idea of a Walden.

Classes, meeting inside or out, are relaxed and small. Courses are oriented around the students individually. In this atmosphere students can work with their teachers instead of against them.

Activities at Walden are planned by students rather than for them. Students have organized foreign travel, camping and canoeing trips, and volunteer work with faculty members joining them. People make Walden work.

The most easily recognizable and important aspect of Walden is the genuine respect for individual achievement, ideas, and goals. Each person in Walden is an important part to the whole educational community.

If a relationship among or between people is worthwhile and rewarding there must be a feeling of warmth, trust, caring, and sharing.

Life is really no more than a series of decisions. Students at Walden are presented the opportunity to function as mature individuals in this decision-making process.

Walden Faculty

Jean Fleming, Laura Moran, Toby Garonzik, Reinhard Ziegler, Pamela Ezell, Ken Thornton, Linda Shasberger, Emily Munro, Gary Barnett, Dana Goodrich, Gary Fleming, and MISSING (but presumed alive and well) Mike Flanagan.

I am more convinced than ever after five years that high school students can

- . . . be responsible
- . . . make commitments
- . . . set goals
- . . . work out good educational plans for themselves
- . . . take good care of themselves

Marie Loar
Walden Director

Walden is an organization made up of a group of people very dedicated to its learning program. We must serve the needs of young people for whom the school was founded. It is a very useful program to me: the continual unselfish dedication of the staff, the enthusiasm of the student body, that's what makes Walden what it is.

Tom Miller
Walden Board Member

Biology teacher Gary Flemming helping his green-thumbed students in the greenhouse.

Emily Munro and English students attempting to broaden their literary outlooks outside.

Dana Goodrich directing his students toward new perceptions of American History and Government.

Art students with teacher Gary Barnett trying their hands at creativity.

Psychology teacher Jean Fleming counseling a student.

Breaks at Walden offer an opportunity to get together. With the flexible schedule we have, there is time to leave campus for a quick lunch or run errands. For those who don't want Munchie Man's food, Burger King, Dairy Queen, or MacDonald's offer alternatives. (But is that really a step in the right direction?) For those who stay at school, it's a good time to get to know each other and just relax.

This year Walden attracted the attention of Channel 4 News, who did a feature story on Walden's uniquely individual approach to learning.

Walden's drama department was involved with a musical-drama as is shown in this caption at Godspell tryouts. A "pulling together" of all aspects of dramatic reaction was utilized in our attempt to get the show off the ground. Forming a touring company was no small effort in the production. Practice and production was taken beyond the hallowed walls of the confines of Walden. A total experience was the accumulative reaction with everyone contributing toward a "coming together" with Godspell.

We'uns who put these pages to gather to make this here book:
Sam Biasatti: Editor
Susan Walters:
Copy Editor
Harvy Robinson:
Photography Editor
Charlynn Caldwell
Louann Owens
Kay Hillendahl
Mark Johns
Mike Kogutt
Pam Welch
Beth Oberlin
Linda Shasberger: Advisor
Reinhard Ziegler:
Photography Advisor) (not pictured due to his position behind the camera)

Involvement is the key word in the development of today's drama. Theatre or drama today has progressed to the point where the audience is drawn directly into the action of the play. Here you see only a few of the "average" audience participants who were inspired to join in the action of the play, and demanded that they be photographed for the sake of dramatic posterity.

Ken Thornton

Beth Oberlin - one of Walden's real tennis enthusiasts.

Polo player Joel Sinnott - a first at Walden.

And then there are those of us who simply play . . .

Note the fearlessly flying Kozmik Walden Wratz. Super Mark is about to cross the finish line! Will he win? Will he lose? Who knows? Mighty Matel does it for us one more time. We're running for you S.M.

The Real Walden Faculty

I would like to know you,
to share myself with you,
to be a part of you.
You are preoccupied with living, and others;
I can only stand on the edge of your life,
looking in and watching you turn in the course of your rounds, to greet me and to continue on.
I am sitting here on this rock watching,
thinking of what could be.
I stand and slowly stretch.
Knowing it's time to move on.
I thoughtfully looked one last time at you kicking a stone in your path, turned,
and wandered off to find my own.

Susan Walters

Students participate ACTIVELY in outside school projects with their teachers.

On our first high adventure trip we camped on the Brazos River near Lake Whitney where we learned to jump and swim like frogs.

Seniors '76

F
w t w r e

P l a n s

TRACY WILSON

CRISS CROSSEN

KAY HILLEDAHL

CINDY WARNDSTAFF

SUSAN PAYNE

Sooner or later a man, if he is wise, discovers that life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take. He learns that everyone is human, and it doesn't do any harm to smile even if it's raining.
He sympathizes with younger students starting their school years, because he remembers his first independent steps.

He experiences throughout "The Game of Life" times of hardships faced after a defeat.
But he rejoices in winning and the exhilaration
following a victory.
During these years
he learns and matures while his dreams become his reality.
- Charlynn Caldwell

CHUCK LATTIMORE

DON TRIGGS

MARY HALE

ROY HILLMER

SCOTT THRASH

SHARI BETTS

TIM SPILLMAN

DAVID BROWNING

JOHN LANGE

STEVE VERHAULT

CINDY FISHER

GIL CURRY

JOHN BALLENGER

KELLY WALTERS

MARK HAYNES

VICKIE ROANE

JIM BLEVINS

TAMMI HATHAWAY

GREG PIERCE

HARVEY ROBINSON

JERRY VICKERS

JANNA BLANTON

DAWNIE GRIFFIN

GARY GLOVER

TIM TRAXLER

MIKE JONES

MARY JONES

BRUCE BERGER

MARK SINNOTT

RON GULLEY

LINDA MELTZER

CINDI WARNSTAFF

SUSAN TREADWELL

J. B. NEAL

STEVE LOCKE

Classes

Art

WALLY LINEBARGER
(Resident Bohemian)

Sam and the evolution of mud pies.

CATHY JOHNS

Inspiration

Completed Creations

Wally's class has given us a chance to expand our work into some of the less traditional art forms, and to learn how to express ourselves in new kinds of media.

CORDELL CAMERON

MICHAEL FLANAGAN

How can you be a good Joe when your name is Mike?

Math Drafting

Computer at work.

TIM ARNDT

Hi There!

Math

TOBY GARONZIK - More than your average Math teacher. If you need a job or advice on your income tax, Toby will help you out.

TEN-FOUR

Searching for an answer - (in the back of the book)

Self Portrait

Toby and Kay

KEN THORNTON

One, two, three, four,
Everybody Hustle!

Drama Government History

Nancy and Jay are engrossed.

CRAIG CROSBY

S
c i e n c e

Jaws!

STEVE WINKLER

REINHARD ZIEGLER
 "We're all Bozos on this bus."

He's been seen walking on water.

Earth and Man Photography

Portraits

Camera shy?

EMILY MUNRO

English Sociology

JEAN FLEMING

Psychology Spanish

Sex appeal

Oh, no! I forgot my homework, Linda.

E n g l i s h

LINDA SHASBERGER

Journalism Writing

Can't anyone think up some copy?

Special thanks from the Journalism class to Harry Boyter for his patience and understanding.

Where? I don't see anything.

LAURA MORAN

I can even turn this machine on with my eyes closed.

French
English

PAMALA EZELL

Reflections of a Year Gone By

Reflections may not always mean just "a vision of the way things used to be." They mean much, much more. The mirror image of yourself can possibly be the best direction toward an education of life. We started with only a thought. Yet, through an imperfect vision of unity, we worked together to build a dream into a living reality. We learned love and life through sharing our thoughts, We learned freedom through each other at Walden.

MARIE LOAR

Walden's Director

Walden's office - always open to students . . .

Pamela working (against odds) in the office.

Robert Holloman keeping an eye on things.

. . . and cats

A Typical Walden Day

$E = Mc^2$

Hot from the munchie man's ovens, these delicacies tempt Walden students every day at 10:45.

BEEP!
BEEP!

Munchie Break??

M u n c h i e

M a n

Student-Faculty committee coordinator.

The Student-Faculty committee, new at Walden this year, meets about once a month to discuss problems and come up with brilliant ideas for projects. (see next page)

With a look of keen awareness, Robert Holloman, president of the student-faculty committee, takes in all that is said at the parent-faculty meeting.

Proceeding to entangle the entire area.

PARENT-FACULTY MEETING

Garage Sale

Students working at the garage sale had lots of help.

Tonka-Toy Thornton was the lead salesman at the Walden Garage Sale.

Interested in some "under-the-counter" items?

Registration day. This term students are making out their own schedules.

Is there any way to get eight credits in six classes?

It gets to you after a while.

Can I take an art class?

Flanagan fencing?? Chivalry is not dead!

At Walden we have always believed that learning can be fun - So can faculty meetings.

Toby and Reinhard demonstrate the "Kama Sutra."

Godspell

"Light of the World"

Louann "Turns back" Flanagan

For some of us, GODSPELL was our first contact with religion that made any sense. We communicated, we fought, but in the end, we worked it out.

"I'm still wondering why we did it."

Ken, Jody, and Toby with friends David Dean and Lloyd Hermann perform at Irving High.

Some Waldenites came for a few laughs.

Mary Hale working at Fred's barbeque.

David Womble at work at the Bellmaster Restaurant?

Earsley

How much farther now?

C a m p o u t
s

I'm glad the typewriter's back at Walden!

Sure hope this water's deep.

Where Do We Go From Here . . .

PAUL KIMMELMAN

I never found the companion that was so companionable as solitude.

- Henry David Thoreau

BRIAN BLANKEMEYER

The mature bohemian is one whose woman works full time.

KATHI THOMAS

"Man, it's a hassle
But I don't care.
'Cause when I walk down
the street
And a thousand plastic eyes stare
At me, I stare back at them.
And I laugh back at them, and
They thank their God that I just don't care."

- Anonymous

JODY RICH

We all had a real good time.
- Edgar Winter

DON DECKER

Truth perceived, Guide me through life.

RICKEY FURRH

It takes time to be treasured,
Time to improve,
Time to learn how to less
awkwardly move,
It takes time to be measured,
Time to acquire the full
value of our worth,
Our dreams of desire.

JOE TURNER

I like to think of coke as the thinking man's Dristan.

CRISS CROSSEN

You can't always get what you want . . . but if you try, sometime you just might find that you get what you need.

- The Rolling Stones

ROBERT HOLLOMAN

I like children if they're cooked properly.

- W. C. Fields

JUDY PALMS

We don't know who discovered water, but we're certain it wasn't a fish.

JEANNE FITZGERALD

Progress is not merely improving the past; it is moving forward toward the future.

GRAY GORNEY

Let's rip our masks off and find out who we really are!

- Enchante,
Gray

TRACY WILSON

Teach your children well,
Their father's life will slowly go by,
And keep them on your dreams,
The one they pick
Is the one you'll know
by.

- Crosby Stills Nash Young

SUSAN PAYNE

Got the feeling . . .
- Jumpin Jack Flash

CINDY SMITH

Life, man, is a gas.

TONY KNIGHT

ALL SPACE TO THE SPACED

TIM ARNDT

Make a bigger place in the universe for your head to live in and it will grow to fill the space, man.

KAY HILLENDAAHL

Success is survival. We'll all tough it out.

- Michael Murphy

JAY GABRIEL

If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away.

- Henry David Thoreau

CATHY JOHNS

Please do not clutch at the Gossamer Web.

- Timothy Leary

MIKE McCALLY

The great question that has never been answered and which I have not yet been able to answer despite my thirty years of research into the feminine soul is:
WHAT DOES A WOMAN WANT?

- Sigmund Freud

CORDELL CAMERON

I believe everyone can draw if motivated.

MIKE BROWN

TERRI ALLEN

Feel so suicidal
Even have my rock-n-roll.
- John Lennon

GREG WADLEY

Take what you can use and let the rest go by.

To forget a friend is sad.
Not everyone has a friend.

We really don't know each other for you have your world and I have mine. If a time ever came when your world wouldn't turn anymore, I'd be the first to offer you mine.

- Sammual L. Biasatti

JANA OWENS

GEORGIANNA MILLS

Distance and a certain light makes anything artistic - it doesn't matter what.

JOHN PIERCE

MARK JOHNS

Bad taste doesn't exist; it's just a figment of somebody's paranoia.

JULIE MANNING

The greater your joy or your sorrow,
the smaller the world in your eyes.
- Kahlil Gibran

HARVEY ROBINSON

He didn't know what he was going to do next, but he'd think of something.

- 2001, A SPACE
ODYSSEY

CHARLYNN CALDWELL

Life is a mirror of king and slave;
'Tis just what we are and do -
So give to the world
the best you have
And the best will come back to you.

DAVID WOMBLE

I know who I was when I got up this morning, but I must have been changed several times since then.
- Lewis Carroll

SUSAN WALTERS

To know the world one must construct it.
- Casare Pavase

Tall ships and tall kings, three times three; what brought them back from the foundered land, over the flowing sea? Seven stars and seven stones, and one white tree.

- J. R. R. Tolkein

DANNY FORSEE

NANCY GANT

JIM SOUTH

I wish I were as you; a soul flying over the valleys.

- Kahlil Gibran

And we know that all things work together for good, for them that love God, for them who are called according to his purpose.

- Romans 8:28

